Carl Linnaeus had a mission to name everything in the natural world.

Every animal and plant species we know about has a name that was decided by the scientist who found it.

Lots of species are named after famous people.

In the space below, draw a new species of plant and give it a proper two-part scientific name.

Who could you name your species after?